PREFACE

Everything you see and witness in your lifetime, all comes down to the point in time of survivalism! Knowing this important point reader, it would give you a better understanding of conflicts and wars. It is part of the human genome, encased in the philosophical notion of 3 powers dwelling in mankind. The powers of: birth, destruction & extinction.

All are part of the histories of survivability and all are used by each sentient being; being part of their own history as well as, the world history.

Written in context away from any anthropological academia, social economic or political philosophical structure; these applications presents conflicts in a way already known in the economic society. Deduced to easily find ways of the causes of conflicts due to the histories of economies and the flow of resources.

However conflict examined from a philosophical uniform history is contextualized to represent a greater and deeper thought of complex behaviors in a wider viewpoint of not just theoretical and scientific logic.

Readers shall enjoy how words are examined to portray how a uniform power is part of mankind history and the zone it incubates in the uniform mind of a sentient being.

For it can be a new way of understanding the most delicate issues plaguing the social society in mankind finding a solution away from conflicts. What is war? And the powers it emanates when in usage?

For God Kings, giants, monsters, beasts, dictators, mediators, peace builders and enemies written in history are all the versions of the human beings. This uniformed being transformed into many faces and attitudes deemed necessary in their times of desperation to educate the masses on its true power form.

Uniform power is part of human civilization, as it continually finds a place amongst the citizen race. As a beating history it serves justice as well as a punishment to all who absorbs it to gain popular control of states.

For the seekers of humility and humanity are caught in the sidelines as referees to nations fighting against nations, destroying the culture of one's homeland.

Powers of the uniforms is written from a philosophical approach to bring a different light to world view conflicts away from the usual commentary.

As we continually seek the answers for mankind's insatiable appetite for conflicts this eBook examines 6 elemental themes worth reading to give a gist of how popular the powers of the uniforms have been yesterday and the future to come.

This is not a complete ideological construct as earlier literature written by the author has contextualized the uniform power in more detail synopsis.

Empathetically: “it is not intended to be the omnipotent of knowledge but a digression of deduced reasoning to the recipient reader.”

INTRODUCTION

Guardian of war and philosophies powers of the uniforms gives merit to military philosophy, uniform philosophy and any other identifier which makes up the innovation of civilization.

For civilization is birthed from the loins of survivability and the will of mankind to protect their own embodiment and their clan.

Survivalism in its inertial stage creates a force energized enough which propels any other sentient to witness its arrival and to do the next best option; which is to retaliate.

Forces of any kind have been the trajectory to the future of societies and nation states. As conflicts remains the better option to use in times of negotiation. The patient to talk and debate is never the true diplomacy method some never adheres too.

History has shown that and as the centuries go up in numbers so too the innovation to reintroduce the powers of the uniforms.

A tactical tool used and measured to always be the protectionist regime for others to know their place.

This eBook written in a much softer tone to other publications highlights the importance of knowing your history. A history of the powers of the uniforms and its close annexation to the human race.

Why is it always used and in what ways has it been successful and unsuccessful in prevalent times of the God Kings & Goliaths.

Be mindful that no other author has exemplified the authority to write about uniforms being in the presence of a philosophical thought but for the doubters of how it can be affixed to today's history, it is context for the simple notion for anyone to read and understand the principle of survivalism.

TOPIC END

This living, breeding, power sustenance breeds from the divinity of enriched value of wealth.

Wealth beyond the common equity market derived from the trade of the dollar.

This wealth is the abundance of resources spent on its diversity which further fuels the flame of an identity.

Mortified and immortalized power distribution comes the value in total of their destructive force.

A force created to wreak havoc on other economic states. To seek autonomy over people state constitutional rights and the freedom to survive enough to speak of the past destinies.

Expenditures proven vital as no power of the uniform is trusted to abide by treaties and accommodation of good will and ethical behaviors.

As the armies march against populist demands for unattached freedom to live without war or to constantly find virtues in the virgin power of an economy to initiate failed state protocols over a rising apocalyptic event.

Events triggered by a billion dollar asset sitting idle in vain and no use to its economic value.

As state resources pulled over to military budgets as an addition to the already exorbitant spending cap; all to keep their resources safe.

As powers against powers remains the might of men as it goes weary in peacetime.

A war must attain a value regardless if many are displaced. For all economic economies so annexed to each other that a tip of a full scale invasion can topple the science of survivability.

A race against time as this is the only blueprint the human race is familiar with.

The sins of an appetite, so large to engulf that the sins of former states independence is just conscripted on paper, without the rule to command a will to proclaim.

So as the imaginary line drawn on the divided world to live within boundaries would soon be a continuous appetite for larger economies to draw their forces to remain an economic giant, yet again!

Seems familiar all too often this happenance is an embodiment of the race against lost time.

The uniform is so powerful and commanding that it remains the bridge between insanity governance and plurality sustenance of development of a race of people.

The value economically derives from the displacement of a historic value lineage of people who succumb to any tyranny of subdued favoritism of monarchy rhetoric.

Peacetime makes wartime and wartime divides the populace who are weak and inferior to justify an action of fight back.

Expenditures of resources spent on the uniform to bring out independent nations out of an already independent republic, formed on paper, ratified by other states; continues to be a debacle fought over for the future of world governance uncertainty.

It remains impossible to separate civil authority from a uniform authority. Their inseparable nature profits the perfectionism of the opposite polar nations.

But use wisely would see new independence being discovered every time a uniform is being used economically.

As the spoils of inaction bring sorrow for those still stuck in derision on hope and prayers; be it invisible it cannot eliminate what is supposed to happen.

The economic value of a uniform is the reality of a system's economy. Forged by blood and a history of violence to keep it as the tyranny of destinies.

Remembering the divinity of hopelessness as the citizens' state devours all rhetoric's about civility and peaceful living.

The uniforms; it creeps in the center and eradicate the dreamers of democracy. Its purpose is to bring as a forbearance the unearthed truth of its singular form.

It has no master! And no master had ever held on to its true power long enough in history to dream of being a conqueror of independent nations.

For its wealth captured in its total investment in a predicted future outcome is the wealth in the sowing and years of reaping.

For the reaping time hours are always upon us, as uniform power is within the fabric of society and it has an important economic value, more so than a constitution created on the principle of morals and ethical living.

For the powers destined to rule has none and as such it predates that the might of men purposeful enough to use its craft can be rewarded with endless wealth in future destinies while others become the slaughterhouse of its unbecoming dangers.

The human being possesses three distinct powers: the birthing force, the extinction force and the destructive force.

All three forces resonate within the framework of the mental capacity of a sentient to acknowledge the importance of its existence.

To advocate or absolve total responsibility to identify these forces would initiate protocols designed for the inhabitation of selective systems.

Selections which would deter the human beings from maximizing their fullest potential.

As these three forces distinctly separate each other, forces are all destined to lead a productive and rewarding life.

The birthing force which brings life and creativity into existence.

The extinction force which eliminates the sentient existence, lineages, cultures and history altogether through time.

The destructive force represents the antagonist and fervent behaviors of sentient to engage in constant battle engagements only meant to temporarily destroy the existence of a rogue elemental power.

Intertwined with the powers of the uniform comes the power of the uniformity.

That supreme human being with immense power to captivate any audience into believing the just cause of the recipient.

To rule over all dominions at the cost of all who join their cause.

For the usages of these three elemental powers annexed into the creativity of a uniform opinion, juxtaposed towards resiliency of hope that nation building is for the honor guards and those who bled for an ominous cause.

For poetry in war enables the uniformity of minds to develop their supreme nature, to be above and beyond all who commits to false idealism and spiritualism sustenance away from the universalism of the powers of mankind.

As populist beliefs created a history far from the real stories hidden in the past.

A past which speaks ill of mankind's true destinies but it is “our” reality spelt out “our” path to the final destruction. A total extinction race for supreme warrior feats!

Feats so grandeur that all historical millennium is purposefully crafted for some uniform mind to take lead of their uniformed masses and take a new wave into the heart and minds of the lost souls.

Souls who ignore the past of warriorism and fighting for a greater cause other than their perplexed lives.

The difficulty arises when supreme elemental powers of birth, destruction and extinction are solely chosen in a separate but unique quality in all that it shares; the cosmos of any time.

As civilizations recover from disasters and plagues of war; so too is history written in support of the idealist rather than the militarists.

The uniform still reels the power of one. The one uniformity initiates when the body is forced to reveal the unearthed self to survive amongst the will of others.

Nor hatred or good will, which good souls perish in the battle as good hearts pound repeatedly when tasks to perform a job you were never intended to do or hope to do.

But the mistake of today is that yesterday's feats are never forgotten but sometimes rewritten, as the battle still rages on between soldiers of fortune and soldiers of fortitude.

There exists no peace in the mobility of time for the human race as disguises are only meant to keep a covert behavior unseen to the intelligent eyes but in ready mode in the dark.

This being called uniform and its apprentice allied uniformity are the danger zones to the three powers of the recipient.

While we still confine our mentality in understanding why create birth during apocalyptic events? And why destroy when everything is supposedly perfect?

Surely an illusion one fights for when the world reels in chaos, as the people of masses and their culture of uniformity feels forgotten, when masses of classes moved out into the realm of productivity at the cost of linear production in under productive nation states.

The division remains real as the uniform is mankind's survival pressure points and its marching men are the signs of the apocalypse.

The supreme human being finds art in battle engagements and poetry in seeing cities fall and people displaced.

All too often the agents of chaos and the actors of order are caught in between the beauty of the supreme being.

The forces supreme and the minds it carries is the uncivilized approach to the defense mechanism implanted in our genome.

To bring forth the “reign” and the reign over subjugated principles just to see how far these forces can lead us into the abyss.

The immortals- through histories they endowed themselves with habits of war and total annihilation of people cultured entropies, like the need of those habits is to build a reborn society of survivalists.

The immortals- they salvage their appetite to rewrite history of cultures to fit their narrative of being the conqueror against adopting the conquered state philosophy of peace building and negotiations.

The immortals- bred eternal fire against citizens race to be the rebel antagonist against civility and everything presumed normal within the livelihood of a society.

The immortal powers-grow exponentially through the ages of chaos as the uniform philosophies are written to warn upcoming actors of nations of their war paths and intentions to unite the power of one.

The world through separate pasts and a united future still finds the power of disturbances as the rubric of displacement and the argument that mankind is not ready for peace.

Peace brings unity to a stop and any war path going forward is a metric measured to determine how long a peaceful treaty can become useful.

As the immortals live free amongst the livelihood of societies; all displaced and are keepers of a sordid destiny which wields the power of rebellionism.

Their ideology so enacted it lasts millennium of years only resurfacing when the populists are resentful of a long term rule of an alien culture infiltrating a society trying to rediscover their own lineage.

Cultures intermixing within perplexed cultures are not a result of a warpath ambition of an uniformist but the peaceful decisions to recognize all histories as it comes on the table of diplomacy.

But the wielders of their pledges, their honor, their anthems and their allegiances to their book of craft, determined to remain true to their only cause of retributions.

The world trophies of leaders and their blueprint for a new world order sympathize with the only belief of which immortal history can stand firm against the others who also seek it to be the dominant pledge.

A pledge which ridicules the people's masses of rioting and displacement. Who have been forced out of their own cultured society due to a breach of freedom to align oneself to a certain cause.

As war wages on the world; civilized for only a day, when signatories are placed on documents, signaling an end of their immortal reigns, is a blind approach as their philosophical reigns of terror is embedded into new soldiers of fortune who has a bone to pick with alien nations cultures infiltrating their identity.

Clashes of identities and for a perfect society are beyond the reproach of the many fighting in today's conflicts, for their children to remain nationals of a country tomorrow.

The cultured breed of soldiers lost their identity when the powers of ideology caused a sentimental reaction to occur, thus enforcing new regimic power onto those unable to fight back.

Tactical resettlement and orphans to a nation are all the impacts to a determined doctrine which never expires no matter the different personalities in reign.

It remains like an adoptive culture needing the touch of an adoptive parent to nurse its way to adulthood in order to remain protected away from the elements externally.

The pledges undertaken to remain independent and away from public perception away from the tyranny, shown about types of rulement and the best practices it encourages, is the immortalized concept the media endorsed to represent as the true political agenda of a nation leader.

As cultural states stay true to their identity whether forced or allowed so too shall the people of cultured rule it as a favorable approach to any alternative.

A people of culture so immersed in its teachings that any adoption of a culture recently began in the modern age is of impure nature and remains a virulent matter prepositioned to eradicate a sensible culture of people.

Grappled with ideologies of today, nothing stands in the way of a uniformed people adoption rate to its history.

As most totally become dissident to their people so as to seek new alternatives, the divide is what the nationalist uniform agenda waits to push the warpath into the households of culture.

The chaotic atmosphere ill prepares any civilized culture every time an event occurs involving terror and eradication of people.

To what end would it stop and why continue to be enslaved to its dominion? That remains a mimic question: the human behavioral culture continually searches for a warring faction of ideals, caste in history as a legendary outcome known to follow the immortal doctrine which can carry them to an eternal place of rest as soldiers to a cause.

The power to dominate all dominions, sanctions, territories, economies and the masses of people is the fate of the uniformed authority.

Destined to prove all diplomatic reasoning moving to assert oneself to the theme of domination and destruction to all oppressing factions and forced global operations.

The one ideal superseding all other ideals or ideas to create a society built on unions and democracy for all to attain the opportunity to live and create livelihood.

As the history of absorption and adoption of virtues and social morality bestowed with fanatics of culture and disillusioned pessimistic valor of the cowards, seem involuntary when the ego of a giant steps on the weaker forces of civility.

No one can escape the free will of the giant absorption rate, a big appetite to control all state and foreign reserves.

To claim a central economic statute to govern the passage of social monies and the interaction between party treaties and exercised goods of trade. As this benefits the minority and distinguishes the poverty of social minds into the majority of welfare.

The world created within the minds of the ego attached to fuel the fire of greed as generations of misfortunes would never see beauty beyond their poor conditions.

The uniformed opinions of citizen soldiers all fighting for their own identity, corrupt or not, all the infighting perplexed the situations of any peaceful debate, as blood runs the streets and the corridors are marked for death. As territories formerly owned fight for independence of what?

For the “what” Is not certain; not given as any good authoritative reason to digress to intra conflicts war.

As it is written and predestined and archived for this happenance to exist. For no stopping can occur to prevent the inevitable. For the classes of people fight tirelessly to defend their honor and choose sides on the merit of wealthy spoils.

As academia finds ways to predict uncertain actions and the religiously attached find wisdom in mankind dominance appetites.

For the will of survivalism activated by the genome of some and for the others to wait until death has come to their forefront.

The human sentient being must fight, for without inaction a future is not certain. Whose future? Maybe the future of the next children of history.

Make no mistake readers, goliath rests in times of the beginning war, for foot soldiers and architects of war face the battle engagements while dictums of speeches face their ego wrath, on more blood must be spilled to reap the entire future of one's ideological revolution.

Trying hard to create the perfect specimen for the entire world race, as the fortitudes of these giants step on smaller people's livelihood and are now called to defend from imminent invasion.

The world reeks with blood bath attached to a warrior's pledge of honor, joined to their chest for bravery bestowed confidence that any war can be won.

Regardless of how many fallen comrades and fatherless children grow up to only know about giants and their wraths.

The social class is always victims to the ego of the mighty. As uncertainty inflicts their comfortable stead.

To always be uncomfortable and prepared for the next goliath, making strides to control a power not destined for them to control.

The historians' testimonies of the account of so many failed state economies and the dreaded disease of refugee displacement spill over to other economic lands, as any poor economic nation cannot feed its people, yet alone cause another internal fighting to occur.

The struggle to survive within the 21st century becomes ambiguous and strenuous as the inflictive disease of battle and strife lingers on continually without a ceasefire involved.

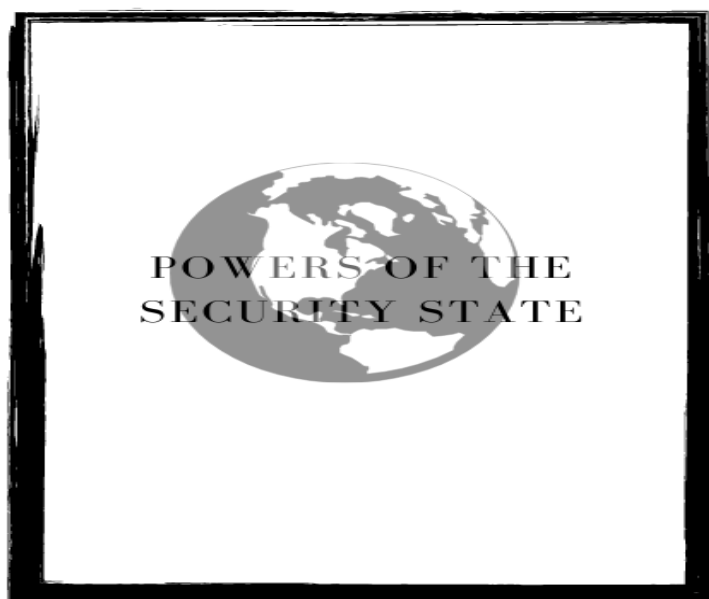

Every actor wants to be the next dictator of economies, without attempting to bring civility within the lost histories and social culture.

The brutality and years of embarrassment that a nation flag and its people are poised to be the de facto state accepting foreign assistance throughout their entire history as an independent state.

Performing marching men in machine attire and wheels of eradication, saluting uniformed men dressed in warrior outfits; grandeur in their approach to be the antagonist in the world view.

To keep the civilized world shepherdless and distant, that the keepers of democracy and diplomacy are not determined enough going forward through the ages of intra conflict war and internal candidates to conflicts of the mass of people; all possessing egos large enough to create new apocalyptic threats.

As the uniforms bleed!

Uniform powers assert a type of authority of order and perfectionism that not all citizens masses can attune themselves towards.

Their core values of a discipline unitary philosophy steps on the philosophy of freedom.

As disoriented masses of chaos incarnated to breed violence and inter-zone conflicts are seen often as unstructured and unworthy uniform identifiers.

A state convoluted with fear and tears of a chosen governmental rule structure so structured it leaves little room for flexibility, propelling the dissident citizens to choose death over slavery to the state regimic statutes.

The world as you see it surrounds chaotic viewpoints to the wielders of governance and frequently adores the powers attained, to the leaders of derision and hope to see a conquerable state claiming more territories than the social squabble over choices of amenities.

The social class purports to acknowledge and accept the destiny of their life. Only choosing the voices of their leaders as the most revered sought after spokesperson that is benevolent and righteous to lead the social teams to a new frontier.

Long live the monarch and the moment it gives and the loyal outcomes are seen when opinions are shut down and the security apparatus devotes their resources to punish and enslave innovators of change.

A grip on the hold of citizens' neck, that a security state is so designed to interrupt the freedom to express oneself in lieu of governance style and leadership.

But to not seek other alternatives about how a security state can be used as a measure to combat internal war and anarchists groups aligned to the destruction of a culture, the telling tale of this topic would speak otherwise about its usage.

It can dwell in any state as it has already proven to be so. As many civil state masses are not familiar with the multiplicity of forms a uniform power can evolve into.

As the uniform criteria serves the only true existence of creating a protectionist state through the masses of enforcing a perfectionist society.

Despise it as much as you want readers, it necessitates that too much perplexity of freedom constitutes the principle of humanity to embrace the rights to create divisions and chaos as they choose the expectation that the state would hear their issues under leniency.

How long can the world view fool themselves to be treated mercifully for actions of opposition to a civil state appointed legislative framework? All govern to educate the masses on how to live within the confines of their static space.

The security state functions as the protagonist and its citizen masses as the antagonists.

As citizens cannot be trusted for their actions are always in opposition to a governing body.

Regardless of the state body of governance, the security state functions as the new uniform power today. For it remains a welcoming framework for years in intra conflicts. As conflicts and internal infighting grows exponentially within this 21st century.

Society is at the brink of a world view collapse and the masses are becoming uneconomically ruthless by- products to anarchist conduct as they desire for war engagements and its sustenance brings the will of the heart towards a better uniform minded inspiration.

For the uniform powers remains the only source which leaders seek after as its presence brings back order within the chaotic element.

Used as a tool to monitor and create predictive analysis of its citizens who further become the reactant incursive elements vulnerable for the possibility of domestic upheavals.

The civilized people chosen through test by fire and recognized as possible intended candidates for violence towards a state is the new norm of social dictatorship.

But the support and protection of common masses comes with a price to prevent antagonistic ills from destroying the fabric of a supposed peaceful society.

Homeland security at its best and the uniformity becomes the guardians on watch protecting much more than its citizens but its economic resources.

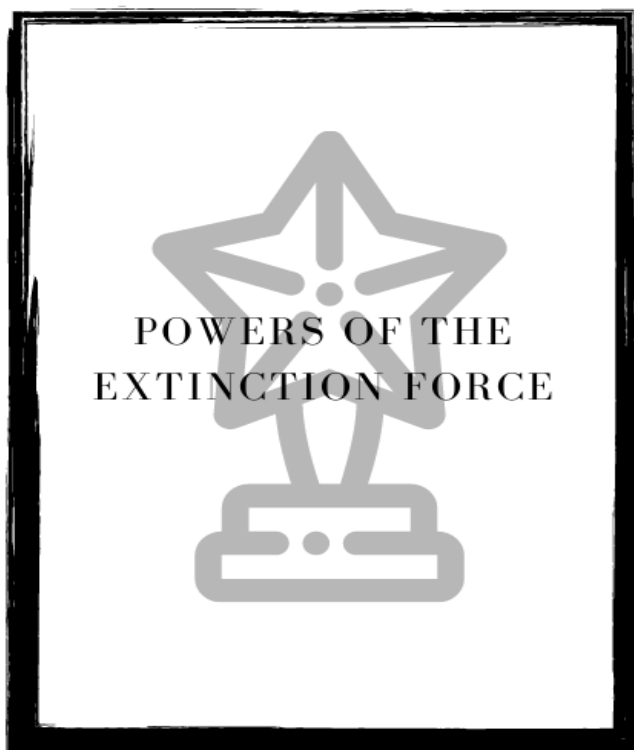

For without it, a state falls deep into the red and the classes become awakened, fighting their way upwards the value chain of social succession.

The security state is the new uniform state. It remains a presence within the civilized world. For most economic countries see the value of their independence more important than their voters.

The new era of surveillance reign; predicting all possible outcomes without the fighting armor, suits, machinery or shields to do its work amongst the hostile society.

For beyond popular beliefs the security state is neutral in design and fervent towards a destiny not foreseen to the non uniformist.

Control measures of how to be governed remains an evolutionary concept even to today's government.

The mental capacity to draw onto an elemental idea so powerful that it allows behaviors to encourage the use of a uniform authority to wipe out masses of people is surely the history of our world.

Plagued with the extinction force and glorified when used; for it propels the desire to achieve ambitions greater than the conquest.

Birthered and knighted as the child of war bred children for battle, under the guise of a uniform entity are just the continued measures nation states occupy their time and expenditures waiting for a false god.

That hate so entrenched within histories of volatile events that reading it to children of today sounds fictional. Elaborating it on media sounds entertaining and its script for theaters feels emotional, that a forgotten race of classes ignore that it was ever a historical event.

The human race is inflicted with power grabbing and its sensibilities to attune their senses to the necessity for battle to achieve a dominant factor of relinquishing opponents at will.

The softened republic of societies finding peace through wartime as separate incidents not felt in many jurisdictions is safe enough to ignore fight or flight.

The extinction force is mankind's overused tool and also its worst blueprint.

As the race continues to eradicate offspring's of the past and create monsters for future war are the agenda for most sentient in most failed governmental structures.

The power to rule and to claim at arm's length the people who seek hope out of conflicts. Determined that it was necessary to have the war in order to reclaim resources supposedly stolen or temporarily misaligned, to serve the greater purpose of oligarchy and monarchy.

But the world we find ourselves in today is years in the making, without hiding its true reason, it showed itself without hindrance its true intentions of the possibilities which are endless.

For ignorance of sightings and voices loud enough to alarm and prepare for imminent threats are sometimes the reason for the destruction, opening to the extinction force as it remains uncertain which side of a war a nation leader is really supporting.

Ambiguous ideology coupled with reasons to lead via a mirror, all place for reason to develop personal ambitions over an entire community of citizens.

For uniformity with or without a uniform command, country or comrades remain a threat and for that same reason their ideology never expires.

While countless die for a country embellishing that said energy to distant lands for similar conformists to join the cultist reform in the name of retribution.

Disguises in the realm of humanity to be the hidden anarchist, as the state places all resources to keep their citizens comfortable enough to evade any rebellion intentions.

But the masses embrace conflicts and diffusions for it is what makes order unstable.

For the world is chaotic in every corner with difficult levels and different actors all manipulating their threats to increase in magnitude, to steal a show away from diplomacy and mediation.

Its ever present mobility is within the frame of the human body. Beginning at a younger developmental stage and growing without hindrance, immortalized in eyes view and channeled to the populace for the deliverance of a forgotten past history, using their fear and anger to weaken the classes of the people in order to unite a cause greater than those who seek other ways to unite a mass of people.

People building groups, building masses of connectors, all branched to one ideal for power to spread their manuscript and to extinct the rebellions.

We all know the stories but for some logical reason it still surfaces around us.

The same methods, forms and trusted masses all combined at a very point in time to force a culture onto them and annexed an already displaced past.

Without the people they would not be the uniform unity it needs to feed the beast.

The beast uncontrolled at the helm as it needs justification for an action to not feel the guilt of extinction towards a culture class of people.

The final solution was celebrated but its journey would inherit another history of savagery and destruction of the model code.

There exist today a couple of nation states preparing quietly for a total all out war, an apocalyptic event yet to come.

As nation states continue to use this tool of trade practiced and analyzed countless of times to bring out the one and only result.

The powers of the uniform-that survival mechanism with the history of survivalism and mankind would forever be used until the scapegoat finally discover, that unitary ambitions serves no purpose in the human realm and its masses must use other forces of power, to dissuade the growth of the mob intentions and to save the human race in all its forms.

TOPIC END

Forged through fires and brimstones emerge the true identity of the human race. A philosophical analysis in the reading shares light on the purpose of conflicts and who are really the opposites on chariots, riding on every citizen and world populace back.

The dirt is really the area most worldview ideas remain, as many backstabbing populist decide to ridicule paper doctrine proclaiming lands and their independence.

The power of the uniforms acting in their real forms of guardians to the state are tested every so often when dispersed mobility of ideas spread amongst the people to pick up arms to fight for a republic, never really sanctioned in the first place.

History repeats itself; only on the might of the historians, writing their own lineage to conquer and to rule, displaced and eliminate factions of diplomacy and culture of people.
