PREFACE

An aspiration for survivability is ever crucial in the world of combativeness. A combatant destined to restructure a nurtured belief system onto their competition is not a trait any security operative today should take and dismiss as a non important dilemma to their current territory.

As combative training and engagement to act repeatedly is not the only survival trait needed in any industrial period.

For the importance of understanding what essence surrounds the concept of uniformity, remains more essential than branding and marketing to obtain clientele or submit to citizens that hope is here.

These resonate tactics are frugal short terms for ideological essence is what burns the flame of warriorism.

For all said above, this was written to give the reader an idea of how important military philosophy is to the security operations.

Whether its usage are for threat controls or its creation, understanding the powers behind their existence would give the operative more belief in the reason they chose the profession.

Whether called knights, legions, centurions or honor guards, just to name a few, their existence is no different to a security profession today, tasked to protect and serve their entire bodily functions to be the guardian of the state and community.

INTRODUCTION

Military philosophies existing among the uniforms of guardians are surely alive and prospering. As many nation states are riddle with constant barrage of social decadence and violence so unproportionate to the effective measures a nation state adopt.

Sometimes it requires independent thought of exceptional agents who have learnt the traits well to evolve these abortive essences into the birth of its security colleagues.

Essential it is to develop the team aspiration to fight all threats as one unified body instead of divisional tactics of accessing the economic value of its workload first without the endurance to survive the clientele threats.

Clienteles, whether described as customers, citizens or partners, the philosophy is a necessary innate system which has allowed the nation state to continually survive unabated.

Examining the topics, it identifies what the military philosophy is, by placing within the security operations of a nation state. And how effective are their source power towards their emblems and anthems they subscribed too.

Forcibly they do exist and a true polarized economic theme coded with instructions and supporting networked systems, written to evolve within any industrialized period.

From surviving stateless economies to the universal existence theory ascribed to its birth, this eBook flows with the independence of its existence and their optimum decision used by states and divisional leaders or operation heads, to allow it to reign, once the populist encourages their freedom to be maximized to be the greatest threat to a nation state.

PHILOSOPHICAL CONCEPTS 1

THE REIGN OF MILITARIZED SECURITY

STATELESS ECONOMIC ZONES

There will always be states which possess no organic economic growth regardless which era and timeline presents itself. Disguise as a malignant plague devouring its innovative people into succession, its presence are real to the people it encroaches onto.

Stymied with populist regimic outcomes, the state only hope derives from the influx of monetary allocation by wealthy state and institutions donations to outbalance the impoverished state economic situations from becoming a stateless system bent on entering other market to survive.

A state with an uneconomic organic workforce lacking the will to nation building, lurking sustenance on a thread held up by populist regime plea to larger economies to donate; is surely a dire throughput destined to be outlived to be part of donation campaigns.

As such, the question one would investigate is how long these sustenance drives can continue, when larger economies pledge allegiances to lower economic growth states, which sometimes refuse to innovate enough to be productive economies within their region.

A burdensome task indeed is the necessary use of military philosophical structures within their security uniforms entities, as a mechanism to control state anarchism and the black market economies from infiltrating the stability of the non resourceful applicant to donations.

Investments targeting social balance and state monopoly would need protection from other entities lurking in the sector, who would devise entities to survive unitary populist systems away from the state authority donations trickling down to the stateless citizens.

An economy driven by hopes of carriage drops and good diplomacy, arguably poised to be a destructive end product of greedy imperialist-capitalist world agenda, propaganderist energy to dominate the global economy.

Regardless of the disposition each state depends on, their continual will to devise prompt and efficient ways to improve living conditions and to protect the little state assets from being exploited by the threats of other sectorialists groupings.

Here lies the danger of stateless economic zones, where citizens do not depend on the stability of its states leaders and deice other investment categories, to enter their market as a transshipment locale to deplete their social economic disposition and to flood short term investment schemes to the hopeless.

Derived out of sentimental positioning, comes a separatists society all devising means to survive.

Both the state and the stateless enter into a rift of dependency from handouts or the introversion of other markets entrance utilizing in industrial blueprints to maximize on profits with less operating costs.

A triangular economy of social industrialization, social program and the sectorialist new market indoctrination perplexed the dilemma of which economic structures of the three can continue to sustain a poor populist people.

As such all triangulate a protectionist's goal to protect their asset class from depletion and destruction. A history of the old matriculated industrial old guard system, they design philosophical military ideology to reign supreme in the new security knighthood of allegiance to only one.

The hopeful citizens all comes victim to naturalization. Birthed out of division of which growth sprout economy can one invest and diversify their portfolio for their generation can reap the rewards of the fight of power between these three economies.

The continue use of military philosophy within security operations in order of merit to protect economic interests no matter their formation design and purpose to the sectors in need of it; it reminds the state that the historical account of a nation state are emanated in the decisions they create and the use of security knighthood designs under the banner of military cloning and military supra-matriculation.

MILITARIZED POLICE OPERATIONS & ITS USES

Many actions created by state uniforms authority are the direct cause of the relationship between the state apparatus and the statehood citizenry social conditioning.

A condition citizens reflect on their status of abiding to law and order under the legislative structure and design covering the use of force and powers of arrest policies appointed onto state police entities.

An affirmed action causation not all respondents to this are justifiably in opposition to these types of conditionality, hence their deterrence actions on the basis of treatment of holdment and rights formalities.

Let it be understood that every nation state have a unique uniform structured dedicated to represent their allegiance status of anthems, to show their detractors and opponents that their tactical operations are in alignment to their own operations of protection.

As many sectorialist group and organization do represent an imitated version of the uniform as an aggressive entity to protect their economy and to allow great survival rate for their own investors and market players.

Territories of hostile former military occupations and chaotic crises of a lost generation of people, resorting to the only resources they possess to allow a continuation of their living undisturbed, regardless of the resourceful end product users.

A life for a life; these entities survived continually to merge within other societies, their destruction of their product cycle margin and the return it carries.

Undoubtedly, uniform attaché and anthems do mutate, hence their mutation amongst stateless economies. Their justification embellished the global economy forced systems on the government states to be part of the exchange of goods and services, even if they lack the resources; an exchange for an exchange.

Rife for ridiculement, these products of angry descendants of degradation and reprisal against agents of the state and their supposed oppressors, the design of greater protectionists' authority to protect assets class from destruction.

As the survival measure of business and investor relations dwindle every moment of operation, these mutated agents of change reacts to all normalcy of adoption even if it's for the betterment of their own selves.

The militia and their guerilla tactics forged by blood sweat and interdependent history of strife and morbid allegiances to honor their ancestors, causes disturbances in the ranks of state entities.

Normalizing the development of a military philosophical security police entity is just what the civil authority devises as an allegiance anthem of knighthood destined to win the long war for order.

A state with too many leaders devising emotional plans to dictate another to default on their mission to expedite their sector into new territorial grounds.

With a bitter background the people fall victim to chaos and anarchy, as allegiances helms fight bitterly in the cosmos of this power.

The philosophical military spirit rests simultaneously with the victor or victorless, commoners or kingship knights, nation builders or destroyers; once appointments creates their destines riddle with no hope for the generational gate keepers to stand guard to economic oppression and other international influences demanding their presence in the region.

Can there be a cause of concern with the militarization of the police authority to use an only operational design to deter the threats surrounding their territory. For only the time watchers and their authority will alert to its presence if its necessarily poised affirmation did any good in improving uprising and state interjection of allocated funds to assist the socially displaced citizens.

Regardless of its use the military philosophy have endured countless of mutation, even if their position is felt in opposite of the state uniform authority.

For their universal core are unique and brings a level of certainty to their causes, feeling a sensory belief of possibility and warrorism, sometimes overlooked as championing the wrong causes to the indirect action of citizens, who may or may not possess the inner spirit of uniformity but allowed their dictum of showcasing the uniform apparatus as a necessary object entity to install authoritative fear among their opponent.

For war creates many theater figures and anthems that initially are purposed to show to all competitors that their strength in numbers are a definite unity to submit to defeat.

However through the time of exchanges, it only emphasizes that not all uniform entity and their powers of consistency bear any original essence of strength, when too many agents disguise fear as hope and engage the illusion of hope in exchange for freedom of this game of ultimate losers.

THE PRIVATE MILITARY SECURITY ECONOMY

These types of surviving economies funds its clientele protection needs with the best money can buy. To support their operational networks and systems from fail mode and to assist their designated attributes when need be.

A control design structure where the customer demands are intuit to the plague of competition with and without remorse, competition drive to lead success on the shoulders of getting in the sector of dichotomy.

Their name precedes their operability as not hired militias unorganized and nonaligned to their flags of allegiance but a formal uniformed entity, pride by its knighthood lineage to protect crucial areas from inoperability.

Standardized by a history of its usage and in today's public security and strategized policies, threats are in need of greater endurance run systems with a longer survival and operability rate.

Their economy larger than life purposed and modernized to suit all clienteles desire to protect the interests of private funding and assets which drive other financial economies to outperform fiduciary market segments.

Described as an entity profitable to operate, control, market and finance; the private military security economy is the bridge between the histories of the purpose of a security body and the cultural ideology behind the blended philosophy of militarizing security business model.

A business indeed, where solutions driven to optimize operational profits and to lessen operations expenses coated as an issue towards the purpose of a security operation.

A misconstrued management structural thinking to demonize and ostracize threats in design, shown many agents are bold and brave to encounter society economy structure as a blunder of utilitarianistic outreach manipulation to re-engineer free thinking citizens into submission.

A societal free will to act constitutionally creates greater animosity towards the builders of the capital market. An industrial goal set to keep the society without the basic needs to sustain their generational habits to survive.

A societal philosophy remains inundated with lies and market morbid deception of owing destruction on society indulgences to corporate dominant systems and formalized hedging of financial commodities.

Rethinking towards society impatient to change the ideal resurrection of philosophical concepts of military and uniform dominance theories, inculcated with security operations are the ideal reasoning of its continual existence.

Plagues by its greatest enemy, called them the populist, desire to manipulate and deceive thought of normalcy and operational drive of improvements of the national and international community.

Exceptionally trained security operating as soldiers in arms, protecting assets in conflict areas in lieu of decreasing operating expenses and increasing the share value of investments to a nation rebuilding, is surely a private destined to those who hold it.

A product which indeed is an economy which its necessary output outweighs the conflicted society desire for chaos and anarchy.

A product which surely is a reflection of the old knights, a kingship authority of knighthood and emblems, entrusted to protect assets from depleting from value.

A commodity worth investing in, territorial control and synchronized harvesting of assurance to increase the potential value of other economies that do need their operational designs and support.

The questions which do stand out to scrutiny in their intended purpose and its proper usage to the sector it is supporting.

Additionally, is their design in direct conflict to traditional security operations, which has surely survived unquestioned with their little potential networks, absorbing more costs to operate with questionable results.

An approach mechanism thwarted long enough to be seen by all threat opponents and the more existence of security longevity is re-engineering its blueprint to suit the new territorial threats.

It's not necessarily an argument of what's best practice but its suited adaptation to deter all threats incoming and penetrative to be a report of a solution statistic rather than a victim statistic.

Indeed a new evolution birthed to support all client base operability margin and the continue crises purported to be the fault of security operators and operational blueprint sold without value to the customer in dire need of its networks.

PHILOSOPHICAL CONCEPTS 2

UNIVERSALISM ACTION THEORY

UNIVERSALISM EXISTENCE & ITS RELATION TO INDUSTRIAL SECURITY REVOLUTIONS

The world is filled with so many co-habituating in unison or opposite to each other. Whether their existence were created to be combative or to be a companion to the service requires but an existence it is.

Relational existence covering the dominancy life line of survivalism stems from the mischievous minds of the civilized populist, to individually devour tasks and to make them habitual fighting tools, necessary to overpower their supposed attackers or intended to be.

A historical look at a trail of violence and plunder, destruction and mayhem; aggression behaviors deemed nomad with civilized populists.

Forcing all deterministic bodies to protect the sanity of its people by enforcing actionable laws to govern actions deemed unfit to the populist in need of control.

An existence not known to control, the uniform takes many forms to adapt to the religiously doubters and incarcerated mental blocks, chained by suppressive thoughts of delusionistic grandeur of false hopes.

A pinnacle obstacle for the philosophy of the uniform remains a virgin entity amongst the heart of deceivers. As the evolution is constant and the statutes it carries each time of mutation, forces the security operators to adapt quickly to its existence.

Either in the form of the seen or unseen it requires the heart and spirit of indoctrination to propel to new height of improving the sector.

A sector which waits on no one regardless if the recipient is undoubtedly a feign, oppressed by those who do not share idealist value of the security industry.

Born and bred to endure and to secure all those who ask for these favors in exchange for monetary offerings still remains a crucial business toll in today's practice.

Soldiers in arms ready to battle to all levels of threats and are inspirited to win all attack strategies faced by them during their tour of duty.

Inescapably, these fascinating ideals don't wrestle much on the chest of the fearless. As these universal principle existences are not taught within the rank of the division.

As monetary actionable gains are not the only measure of success when the threats of military trained opponents possess more spirited universal heart than the operators who should possess it in abundance.

Survival is not a monetary gain and business models design to act with a business structure without the introduction of the core universal principle concepts would drastically fail, as increased number of fatalities would decrease the confidence level of these investors who seek more out the service they require.

Building the military philosophical structure within these security sectors would chastise the incumbents, that heart of a warrior spirit is considered the most potent behavior before the aspect of all monetary drive.

A concept the 5th industrial security revolution requires as the universal existence of survivalism requires all security operators to indulge in security knighthood practices, sworn oaths to allegiance to this amongst the evolution of the global economy.

The systems changes and mobility mechanisms of improving the world social structures would lay the demise of detractors to do harm on all structural manifestations.

In lieu of these actions comes a reaction of the purposeful service and solution drivers to acknowledge its existence and assist in re-purposing the world economic growth projects.

Act as protectionists guardians destined to do more and their fulfillment energies are then transcended onto those who are benefits of the rewards system entrusted by the security operators.

The world has passed on many industrial revolutions on the assistance to the security operators designing their own industrial security revolution to match this global system.

Universalist existence are the energies spirited within the holder of true survival tactics to devise unworldly systems which would aid in the transformation process of improving the world corrupted structures.

For when the world economies are building and rebuilding it internally corrupts systems and its system core architects. On seeing these occurrences the natural investments core architects bring a balancing decision to act as the rule of order to revolutionize order to control chaos and centralize it from imploding.

Hence the reason of its birth, called them security authority knights, destined to do more than just security perimeter and detect oncoming threats.

Are more the guardship of the existence of all entities in need of each other. The universes only hope for the global survival rate to continue unabated.

INDEPENDENCE EQUITY

The pillars of written document stamped and approved by its government and enlighten by its constituents to evolve what is already an established body, to lay down rights of appropriation and merits, whether disdain on not, is a recluse to independence.

Independent to share the responsibility to all citizens to act in accordance to written instructions and to be a responsible actor to independent development and share patriotism for the collective activity of all.

These sentimental attributes are not the realities of a populist regime of citizens, many founding fathers would have written in their ordeal of nationality and state building.

As critical elements justify that their merit of sanity are too corrupted to be taken seriously when the critical infrastructure are near collapsing.

As the restrained skills are drained by repeated abuse of statehood categories of deliverance seekers and destruction agents of empowerment.

A mixture of cultured people residing amongst a populist of with their own ideological concept of survival is a longstanding plague of social anarchism.

The judicature practice of seeking emotional rewards for attack on their space and supposed freedom to survive undisturbed, are territorial delusions that a space is protected once the delighted law abiding conformist act within the confines of a supposed social law.

The law of independence and its created agents are sublimed to what the true reference of their enforced actions is to the rebellious citizenry who seek more vengeance than the regime holders who divide and conquer imperialist-socialism.

As critical infrastructures bleed and the economy birthed out of pure reverence to its importance, acknowledging same, are not rewarded when pilfering, destruction and antiquated personal strife impedes in future development of the free enterprise.

Devising secure financial plans to protect from the diabolic traits of loyal citizens banding together to demand a reward system not in retrospective to their total outputs of national commitments over personal grandeur.

The once was independence of the mighty former social worker is now in demand of saving them from their own created issues of social inequity and social insolvency.

Matched against other citizens; the war of evolving their independent choice, handed down by generation of social families, against other social destabilizes and not formalized real re-active thoughts of their own demise.

Independence of social will seem to be the entropy of issues throughout time immemorial, as citizens' statehood categories independence as their formal embodied economic worth plotted to not be as formidable to the state to be the guardian to their created hardships.

A destiny crafted by survival mischief deemed to be productive when all odds are against the comforters and their will to survive has shut down completely; that the product of tomorrow are more sentimental to their generational blueprint, than the pressures the state endures to support a illusionistic independence.

Causing many adaptations of what the universal concept of power have over change systematic rulement. As many citizens empower themselves to the elements of economic starvation to be the causes of many classless societies devising wealth gaps and forces to divide schemes.

Allowing the mind to go far in-depth, conjuring deep convoluted thoughts to develop a philosophy of warfare against all oppressors.

Encouraging knighthood and revolute thoughts to the populist in dire need to hear their cries go into an energy built to devour.

With the order of things the citizens becomes an enemy of their statehood and over privilege abuse of their free independence forces the multiplying of military philosophical engagements to spring out into all uniform state authority.

In the name of its system these design operators are destined to protect the bedrock of their independence along with all critical infrastructures which follow their independence.

Allegiances to order and anthems, flags and uniforms; the survival philosophy dominates the species of citizens who too are obligated to create independent thoughts and actions.

The universal actions theory surely is a pleasure seeker of conflict devise only on the emeritus hearts of its only creators, called them citizens.

For the bedrock of economic independence, continues to be an effort from all independent thinkers and builders emerging into a one epoch of social deliverance and generational upliftment.

A product of security knighthood and a continual breeding life force as the new modern ages of security still remains a life source of uniformity.

TOPIC END

Taken all which is written and said in past dialogue, the topics on military philosophy emanating onto the new uniform state operations are truly a topic worth investigating.

As this eBook examines some importance of its existence and why it is used. For the formidable threats lies from within the state, desire to use it efficiently to encourage the economic viability to improve.

A history both entities have, supporting each other for all to survive the tyranny of citizens.

As security knighthood is reborn into security state with new allegiances, anthems, flags and uniforms.

“It can never be whole, it can never be complete, it can never be a source, if doubtful to understand the most powerful essence in uniform”.
