Flooded Market

An economy with a flooded market of surplus labor idle enough to cause the GDP to income rated ratio to affect other GDP calculative surpluses, by powers of dilution are without a doubt the manipulation of economic depletion caused by instructive labor insensibilities.

Insensitive to the global financial outreach programmes which cannot infiltrate every poor populace economy due to its dependency on the traditions of donations and volunteers and the mighty heart of its donor.

The world which is a division of other multiple economies unseen to most recipients are indeed the polluted dollars which do not enter the volunteerism of downtimes.

A Pollution Of Labour

Surely not to be the bearer of the circumstances but the balanced economy rests on those who do not seek volunteerism as an act, to improve the money economy but innovation and sheer will of the populace who seek to do more than to be part of contributions.

But to deny the inevitable in order to force a populace to become more laborious and seek migration as a means to mass produce production in larger economies.

A pollution of labour produces a pollution of wealthy businesses that are prosperous to build better and large scale economies with more GDP growth, than most past economies but its intensified effort is to fill the labour market with jobs the state entity cannot.

A praise or curse situation undoubtedly in the necessity for those who struggle to survive and with years of a frustrated social network of disenfranchised citizens it prolonged their efforts to improve their social class dilemma.

The management of money through interest value and credited subsidies through allocated funds of debt incorporated for a state to run its affairs.

Coupled with a history of debt to repay hoping that its influence on its citizens can return with innovation and a cultivation of good nationalistic views, to devour poverty out the door of each homes and rekindle a sense of hope that can channel into productive and more resilient labour force.

The apparatus measured and quantified made judgemental errors to the production scale of the polluted migration of labour.

Categorized as whether skilled or not it still fills the void when channelling through territorial waters to evade prosecutions in order for many laws to enact leniency of actions.

Those without the resources to move, to be outlawed can only find innovative ways to conquer hunger by death; a hanging tool of rope tied to the economic struggle of the forgotten.

What can money buy? How much can it support?

Replacement Costs

The will of the succulent institutions need no proof that their will must be enshrined to protect the investors from a social collapse and away from the petty grievance of the hopeless.

Neither it rests as a game of death nor the penalties are awarded to the most hateful bitter investor to win the game but it requires intelligence far away from sympathy of other human beings. "Other" includes the majority in the financially bad collapsing waters of their shark infested shores and their idealism of the populace many.

Where the majority of the "many" manipulate small growth of their "many" to bet on circumstantial risks grown to eradicate money in the future.

Where short term liabilities vested in short term appreciated bets turn out to be the many future hopes being crushed by those who sell dreams.

Terrible dreams creating in the nightly hour stock borrowers and back lending overnight banks turning momentum of chiming on a defeated economic state class, to enlighten the masses on the mishaps of spending, leading to a social war and an upgrade in investor chance of retributions.

Corporations Innocent or Guilty

As the pollution of the labor force all flooding into larger economies fuels the economy of polluted money all being manipulated to win the bet of the large investor.

Corporations are neither guilty for this nor are they free from their actions. It is the mindset of the migrated ideas, ideals, principles and culture of the deserter to figure out the difference in value of the pocket in and pocket out maxim.

The oppression is not merely understanding the value of money in a polluted space of competition but how it can benefit anyone to its maxim.

As money moves where most needed, is not the ideal one should set aside to welcome.

Nor does one need to feel victimized about not knowing financial knowledge through seeking growth from one economy to another.
