THE DARK TERRITORY

The dark territory engulfs threats and violent actors on ground and above.

Best locations to fight battles and claim a spot depends how well you can make decisive strikes with the best winning objectives.

A decision one must admire to acknowledge early on for mobility and swiftness is the best option to keep surviving.

Day or night in the light or in the dark the territories remain a viable option to build a sustainable outpost.

An outpost worthy to withstand constant attack and also a place to call a resting place.

DOMAIN

A domain within the wild nature of things you can control, prepare, experiment and innovate new ways to conquer the jungle aspirants.

Look upon and glaze the marvellous wonders of jungle life.

A difficult life to endure and so much aggression to rule!

The naked cosmopolitan draws near into the well of purpose and adrenaline, caused by the thrill of nature or nurtured to be a victim in eyesight.

CONQUERED TERRITORY

Regardless of the position; one must be mindful of the conquered territory innate within the survivalist before an attempt to be a constant night watch in the outer territory.

Some become victims without a cause to be one.

Some allow the victimology to lure suspected hunters into a trap and others adapt to the scent of the wound.

The wild and beastly becomes a new mutant threat in the jungle.

A devouring appetite to lust over the treasures hidden in the wild.

To claim trophies over competitors and wear it around their persons; like its presence can transfer the dead energies into a spirit untamed.

No bearance of untruth as the tamed can only be spotted as new food in the wild.

PRIMATE KNOWLEDGE

But the primate knows too well that hunting above ground presents a greater alternative in the cover of the trees.

With the use of a pre-emptive strike in the shadows, one can disappear into other shadows, hidden behind the whispers of the wind.

Blowing fear into the minds of the territory hoarders.

Enforcing a level of uncertainty that no conquered territory exists in peace for too long.

At times you have to wield the power to defend it at all cost.

Below ground men make their defence permanent but it becomes a traditional habit over time that the uniformed would devour their own hide before they see the enemy within them.

A class of the masses still remaining as the victims; they are for the jungle is ruthless and so are the territory they claim.

The human species yet again shows its primordial form of attacking their hunt until it moves no more.

The hunt is now the fans seeking success who themselves are afraid to venture in the jungle but allow other persons experiences to show them how.

Experiences which they neither have the marks, scratches, wounds or deformity to show of surviving the harshness of the wild.
